Shanghai and if the present Corps is dishanded and a new one started it will have our best wishes for its success. We must confess, however, that we would have no expectation of seeing those wishes fulfilled. Whether it be an Artillery, a Maxim Gun, or a Rifle Corps, there. is not sufficient recruiting material in the Colony to render it permanently successful. > WE reproduce elsewhere an estract from the North-China Daily News of the 4th instant and consider that too much attention cannot be given to the important matter of our milk supply. It is assuring to learn from the statement of the Colonial Surgeon at the last meeting of the Sanitary Board that the milk used by our Hospitals is regularly tested by the Government Analyst, So far so good. But might not the several Hongkong Dairies be periodically examined and reported upon as in Shanghai? It has previous convictious proved. Dr. Siegert's Angestura long been known that milk, on account of atmosphere, is one of the most active disseminators of disease. At the same time to insist, as our Northern contemporary does, that all milk should be boiled would involve a sacrifice on the part of those who use much milk, If a basin of milk boiled is not altogether a basin of milk spoiled, it is certainly greatly altered in character; and if the process is to be any protection against the scarlatina microbe, the milk must not only be heated, which is a common practice, but it must be boiled, and after this some doctors assert that it is milk no longer. Undoubtedly the more satisfactory plan is to guard very many next in importance, and we trust that the Sanitary Board will keep a jealous watch over every cow-house in Hongkong.

> BRITISH TRADE WITH THE FAR EAST IN 1891.

In a review of the Board of Trade returns for 1891 the London and China Express says :-With regard more particularly to our trade with the Far East the returns for the twelve months show a considerable shrinkage in the exports of cotton yarn to Japan, amounting to over 8,000,000 lbs, while there is a decrease in the case of China of about 1,500,000 lbs. The Straits Settlements, on the other hand, have taken a little more than in 1890. The total figures for the piece goods trade during last year show a decrease in every case but the Dutch East Indies, which have taken over 56,000,000 yards more of this class of goods than in 1890. but large and satisfactory as this increase is it does not compensate for the abrinkage which has taken place in the shipments to Chine, Japan, the Philippine Islands, and the Straits Settlements. China has taken over 86,000,000 yards less, Japan between 2,000,000 $1,529,070.97 and 3,000,000 yards, the Straits Settlements about 40,000,000 yards, and the Philippine Exactly the same result has to be noted with regard to worsted tissues. only the inocease and decresse respectively is not much to note except a decrease in the exports of lead, both to China and Jupan. The quantity of railroad material sent to China and Japan is less approximately 2,200 feet above the city. than in 1890, but the figures are insignificant. Turning to imports there is a decrease of about £400,000 in the value of the ten imported from China. Unsatisfactory as this is it is not so bad when it is borne in mind that the docrease 1890 compared with 1889 was not far short of £1,000,000. In one souse, therefore, the resulf. of the year just closed will be satisfactory to those engaged in the China tes trade. The figures for Documber, however, are month of 1890. The value of the silk imports with 1890. In 1890 there were very few direct. shipments of silk from Japan to this country. They were resumed during 1891, and the total from China for the last two years. The value of greater than in 1890. The value of the hemp imports from the Philippine Islands is also greater, while the shipments of tin from the the Straits Settlements are valued at £1.912.657.

compared with £1,745,112 in 1890.

A paper was read before the Foreign and Colonial Section of the Society of Arts on the 12th January, on the Lucs States, by Mr Ernest Sitow, C.M.G. The chair was taken by Sir Thomas Wade, K.C.B., who briefly infroluced

Along the banks of the Mökhong, or Cambodia River, these sepulations, though governed by afficials of their own race, are directly subject to Bangkok; but in the north they are divided into six Stales, ruled over by their hereditary chiefs, and thus are semiindependent. These six states are Chicagmai, Lamphun, Lakhon, Nan. Phre, and Luang Phenbang. In the first five Asiatio subjects of the Queen, chiefly natives of Barmah, have for many years carri d on an extendiplomatic relations with Siam, which followed upon the conclusion in 1855 of Bir John Bows ring's treaty of commerce, disputes and lawsuits began to arise in connection with the rights thus obtained. In 18:4 a treativ w s negotiated between the: two kings of Siam and the Vicerny of India, which had for its principal object the establishment on the spot of tribanals for the determination of such disputes; but baving fuiled in completely securing the objects almod at it was supersaded in 1843 by a Fresh treaty conpluded between Great Britain and Stam. first this treaty applied only to Chiengmai, Lamphuo, and Lakhon, but its operation was afterwards extended to Nan and Phre. arrangements looked well on pape", but owing to the vast amount of arrears which had account lated in consequence of the failure of the tracty of 1875 they did not work smoothly, so that became advisable for me to pay a visit to Chiengmai towards the end of 1885.

Within a few hours after my arrival I received a visit from the King's Chief Commissioner, Phyn Monkri by name, a man of about forty, strongly built, and with a p'easing confitenance. He goodnaturedly affered to do anything in his power to render my sojourn agreeable, and afterwards fulfilled his promise in a way that proved his words to be more than a more compliment. I made the Chief's acquaintance on the following afternoon, He lives in a fina bouse built in semi-European style, and is a jolly-looking old fellow of sixty seven, not without a certain measure of nati counting, but intensely ignorant. The conversation turned upon the obstruction to navigati n caused by the rapids in the river on the southern boundary of his territory. He would not believe that dynamite could be used to destroy reces There is no doubt that he looks hoon the rapids as a heaven-bestowed barrior against aggression from the South. But some day a milway may, be constructed up the Menaur Valley, and then we shall witness the complete incorporation of Ch'engmai with Slain, I asked him what I could take it on my way down to Bungyears ago the water used to leap into the air with a loud noise. Then I ought to visit the pageda half-way-up Dei Su-thep. I asked him about Doi Chieng dac. Well, the people used formerly to ascend it, but it is now innecessible.
